TECH TIP

How to Make GIFs using videos

What if it was as easy to make a GIF as it is to record a video? That's what Samsung is offering with its Smart Select mode that enables easy creation of social media-friendly content.

This smart video-to-GIF converter isn't just for videos you create though, as you can nab movies from pretty much wherever you like - including YouTube.

Swipe the edge of the screen to activate Smart Select then pick 'Animation'. Make a box around the video you want to capture by moving to the edges of its corners.

Then select Record while the video is playing at the part you want. The smart tool will capture whatever is playing in that boxed area and convert it to a GIF. It'll even show, while recording, the file size and time so you know what you're making.

The file is saved to your phone, making it super simple to share your wonder works with the world.

To add the Smart Select tool, open Settings > Display > Edge screen > Edge panels > tap the Smart Select panel to enable it.

Reading Recommendation:

A collection of Yakama legends: The Wondrous Journey of Speelyi; The Epic Struggle Between Spilyay & Wishpoosh and Spirit Chief Names the Animals

By Marlene Simla

As a pre-school teacher Ms. Simla discovered that the stories from the Yakama People weren't printed. Preferring that children learn about their own background with a few indigenous words, she depicted these myths. These lessons of nearby places and traditional practices were passed down from grandparents to their grandchildren over many generations.

All three books are a part of the Yakama Nation Library collections. Readers can learn traditional Yakama words in these pages as well as traditional histories of local animals and places.
